In the Design District, Chrome Hearts is hosting Sean Kelly Gallery and Maison Ladurée and will sell a limited-edition macaron box ($24.)

Celebrate Greater New York in Miami Beach. Wherever you take up residence on (or off) Collins Avenue this week, you're sure to find all manner of pop-ups, limited artist editions and fashion collaborations to shop. On Thursday and Friday, Kim Kassel and Lizzie Tisch will open a Suite 1521 satellite of their Upper East Side private-shopping salon at the St. Moritz tower of the Loews Miami Beach Hotel. You'll find a sticker-covered Anya Hindmarch cross-body bag ($1,295) among other selections perfect for party hopping. At 1601 Collins Avenue. ... The Carolina K designer, Carolina Kleinman, has a temporary outpost of her Brooklyn store at Casa Claridge's, where you can pick up pretty bits for downtime like a silk-cotton print dress ($248) and beach bag ($140). At 3500 Collins Avenue.

The Calvin Klein men's creative director, Italo Zucchelli, has done a collection for the Webster with sport jackets ($950), jersey hoodies ($595) and other quintessential men's wear in a South Beach-appropriate shade of cyan. At 1220 Collins Avenue.

SoulCycle, which is opening its first Miami outpost in January, has a poolside pop-up with an installation by Gregory Siff at the 1 Hotel South Beach and is selling leggings with the artist's skull motifs ($86). At 2341 Collins Avenue

Tappan Collective, the online platform that connects emerging artists with aspiring collectors, has curated 16 works priced from $500 to $5,700. They will be on view Thursday and Friday at the W South Beach and for purchase starting Friday on the Outnet. At 2201 Collins Avenue; at theoutnet.com/holiday.

The Paul Kasmin Gallery PK Shop has teamed up with Amanda Hearst and Hassan Pierre's fashion site, Maison de Mode, on a digital art and fashion pop-up with limited editions like a KDIA 18-karat gold balloon ring ($7,020) and a set of Nir Hod mirrored coasters ($95). At maison-de-mode.com/collections/blog-mdm-x-pk-shop.

The artisanal Japanese label Readymade, best known for its bags made from vintage military fabrics, has created an edition of three hand-carved works ($24,000) for Alchemist. At 1111 Lincoln Road, car park level 5. <http://shopalchemist.com>

In the Design District, Chrome Hearts is hosting Sean Kelly Gallery and Maison Ladurée and will sell a limited-edition macaron box ($24) with illustrations from its Pete Punk Offspring line. At 4025 Northeast Second Avenue, Miami.

And a bit farther up the coast, the Bal Harbour Shops semicentennial features an exhibition titled "FP04: The Anniversary." It shows off 50 years of Miami fashion from Yves Saint Laurent, Gianni Versace and more. At 9700 Collins Avenue, Bal Harbour.
