For this edition of Art Basel, Sean Kelly Gallery is taking a unique approach to its curated booth with the expansive presentation "Three Generations," which is comprised of three distinct installations that change over the course of the fair. The first installment features artists born between 1940 and 1959, and includes longtime gallery staples like Marina Abramović, Candida Höfer, Tehching Hsieh, Joseph Kosuth, and Anthony McCall. The second leg, unveiled Thursday and Friday, features mid-career artists like Frank Thiel, James White, and Kehinde Wiley. The final section, on display Saturday and Sunday, highlights the youngest of the gallery's roster, including artists Hugo McCloud, Landon Metz, Sam Moyer, and Sun Xun.
