Leandro Erlich's Order of Importance

Spurred by the climate-change crisis, Argentinean conceptual artist Leandro Erlich illuminates the vexing traffic jam in Order of Importance. Commissioned by the City of Miami Beach, and curated by Miami arts maven Ximena Caminos, the installation recasts 66 life-size sculptures of cars and trucks in sand. Clustered along the beachfront at Lincoln Road, these "automobiles," seemingly at a standstill, possess a poetic, haunting air.
