

SEANKELLY

Editors. "Click Over to These 9 Art Basel Online Viewing Rooms You Definitely Don't Want to Miss." Artnet News. June 24, 2020.

artnetnews

Click Over to These 9 Art Basel Online Viewing Rooms You Definitely Don't Want to Miss

The marquee Swiss art fair may be an online-only experience this year, but there is not shortage of great art to see.

This summer Art Basel is an online viewing affair. After some minor hiccups with the inaugural edition of its Hong Kong viewing rooms earlier this year, art enthusiasts will be pleased to know that the latest iteration is by and large a smooth experience.

Though some collectors are undoubtedly missing their white asparagus and champagne toasts, for those who have never made the trip to Basel before—or are simply happy without the hoopla—the online experience offers a new level of accessibility. All you need to do is sign up and log in.

With 282 galleries participating, one could certainly spend a whole day clicking away and still miss a virtual room or two. To get you on your way, here are nine of our favorite gallery viewing rooms we recommend clicking on over to.

Sean Kelly Gallery

Kehinde Wiley, Rumors of War. Courtesy of Sean Kelly.

SEANKELLY

What's On View: Sean Kelly Gallery is often regarded for its intellectually rigorous programming, and this viewing room is no exception. In light of recent events, a dramatic photograph of the unveiling Kehinde Wiley's already iconic 2019 sculpture Rumors of War in Times Square—which is now installed along Richmond's infamous Monument Avenue—seems oddly prescient. Other viewing room must-sees include vibrant new works by Sam Moyer and Janaina Tschäpe.